

ZACCHO DANCE THEATRE AND SAN FRANCISCO NEIGHBORHOOD ARTS COLLABORATIVE PRESENT

DYING WHILE BLACK & BROWN

"The piece Dying While Black & Brown impacted me in a very profound way, because it took me back to a place emotionally that allowed me to reconnect with the tragedy of the past 18 years of my life, and then it also reminded me of the triumph of winning back my freedom."

– Anthony Graves, Texas Defender, Former Death Row Inmate

Choreography and Direction
by Joanna Haigood
Music by Marcus Shelby
Originally commissioned by Equal
Justice Society

Featuring performing artists
Antoine Hunter, Rashad Pridgen,
Travis Santell Rowland,
Matthew Wickett

Friday, April 4, 2014 • 8pm
panel discussion following performance.

Saturday, April 5, 2014 • 2pm

FREE

Zaccho Studio
1777 Yosemite Avenue #330
San Francisco, Ca 94124 • 415-822-6744
For more information: www.zaccho.org

This performance is made possible with generous support from Grants for the Arts/San Francisco Hotel Tax Fund, The Surdna Foundation, The Bayview Hunters Point Community Fund of the Tides Foundation, The William and Flora Hewlett Foundation and our community partners Boudreaux's Café, BMagic, Bayview Opera House. Photography: Kegan Marling Photography